

Theology on Tap

Theology on Tap gathers on the first Tuesday of each month for good food and good conversation. Some of us are members of local Episcopal churches, but not all of us. We seek to create a “low pressure” environment to invite your non-churchy friends for conversations about faith, ethics, politics, and life today. Our rector is the lead organizer of Theology on Tap. You can read more about Theology on Tap on the Theology on Tap page: www.pubtheologystl.org

This year we hit some record number of attendance at our August and September events. (65 and 72 people). We featured the following speakers and topics:

- January Recess for New Years
- February “Prayer and the Presidency” with the Rector
- March “For you were a stranger” Faith, Immigration, and Refugees with Debbie Morris Smith of the International Institute
- April Recess for Holy Week
- May “Science and Faith” with The Rev. Dr Barry Hong of WashU Medical School
- June “Faith and LGBTQ+ Pride” with the Rector
- July Recess for Independence Day
- August “The Benedict Option” and New Monasticism with Dr. Alden Bass of SLU
- September “Faith after Charlottesville” with the Rev. Dr. Ben Sanders of Eden
- October “Creating a Community of Equity” with Rudy Nickens of MoDot and the Ferguson Commission
- November “A History of Death” with Dr. Adam Ployd of Eden Seminary
- December Advent Trivia

Theology on Tap meets upstairs at Dressel’s Pub at 6:30pm on the First Tuesday of each month. Join us and bring a friend!
