

The Holy Communion book group, a small but enthusiastic group of men and women, tries to read and discuss a book once a month. Sometimes the weather makes us skip but we then discuss the missed book the next month with the new one. We choose the books we want to read. They are usually ones we can get from the library. We invite you to give us a try some Sunday morning. We meet in the vestry room about noon. Here is the chance to read a book you might never thought to read! Questions? Talk to Barbara Robinson, Dave Motherwell, Pete Samples, Marleen O' Brien, Barbara Pummell or Lucy Krieg
