

20s and 30s at Holy Communion

Annual Group Report

The 20s and 30s group had a quiet year. Heidi Volkl joined Janice Nihill with planning to continue our monthly brunches as well as explore new ways to gather with a focus on social justice events. But of course, 2020 had other plans. As we all adjusted to the reality of living in a pandemic, our programming simply didn't take off like we otherwise would have hoped. We did manage a virtual cocktail hour, a virtual book club featuring Native by Kaitlin Curtice, and a virtual All Saints party. Despite the challenge of Zoom fatigue, each event was a delightful opportunity to add some levity and learn together.

We are continually grateful for Holy Communion and the example set by our clergy and lay leadership – their innovation and compassion for our community has been an absolute God-send in such a difficult time. We look forward to 2021 as an opportunity to learn from their example and strive for ways to welcome anyone and everyone into community.
